

Junior Badge—Car Care

This event is aimed at Junior Girl Scouts (ages nine to 11), the oldest of whom will be driving and needing automotive service in five short years. It provides one-on-one face time with future motorists who will remember your helpfulness and friendliness when they need automotive service. Because they have worked in your shop on their badges, they'll feel comfortable with you and your staff in your facility.

Other opportunities from this event include:

- creating good PR (i.e. a photo of the event in your shop).
- giving the girls coupons, as well as other promotional materials, for their parents' next car care needs.
- expanding your mailing list or customer base.
- receiving free publicity by writing a press release and submitting it with pictures to your local newspaper. (See attached examples.) You may also want to call your local TV stations. They can come to the workshop to film, and then run a human-interest story about it. The local Girl Scout Council or county service unit may be able to help you with this.

The requirements for the badge are available from the local council. The girls are required to complete any six of the 10 options to receive their car care badge. The Women's Board has chosen the six objectives best suited for shop owners; however, any of the other objectives may be substituted at your discretion. The options included in this guide are marked with an asterisk (*). The objectives include:

1. Basic vehicle check including fluids and parts*
2. Writing instructions on how to perform vehicle check
3. Dashboard*
4. Tires*
5. Owner's manual*
6. Washing and waxing
7. Public safety and vehicle inspections*
8. Interviewing someone whose job involves cars*
9. Roadside emergency kits
10. Pollution

Ask your local council for more detailed instructions about each objective.

1. People you may need:

- Minimum of four technicians, or someone qualified to manage each station.

2. Items you may need:

- At least four automobiles
- Safety glasses and gloves (approximately six pairs of each)
- List of possible automobile features (see attached)

- Oil, brake fluid, power steering fluid, automatic transmission fluid and windshield cleaning fluid (for display purposes)
- Spent oil for comparison
- Tire rotation chart
- A tire air pressure gauge and/or tread gauge for each girl to take home (ask your vendor)
- Food and drinks for snacks and/or lunch
- A few extra automobile owner's manuals
- A digital camera for promotional pictures
- Nametags for everyone involved in the workshop

3. The girls should bring:

- A notebook and pencil
- An automobile owner's manual

4. Getting started:

- Become familiar with the badge requirements (contact the local council).
- Determine how many girls you will be able to accommodate. Try to keep it under 30 if possible.
- Because of quarterly meetings and because Girl Scouts need to plan ahead, you must call the local Girl Scout Council with three months advance notice to tell them you would like to host the event. They either will invite local Girl Scouts or will explain how to contact the proper troop leaders. (To find your local council, click here.)
- Coordinate with your local council in choosing a date for the event.
- Recruit technicians and other adults to assist at each station.
- Locate vehicles for individual stations.
- Choose food and drinks to provide for lunch or snacks.
- Prepare "goodie bags" that may include:
 - Tire air pressure gauge.
 - Tread gauge.
 - Copy of the lists included in this guide (what to include in a roadside emergency kit and automobile features).
 - Coupons or other promotional materials from your shop for the girls' parents.
 - Brochures on car care (see resources).
 - Service interval schedule (from "Be Car Care Aware" Web site).
- Acquaint technicians with badge requirements.
- Do a dry run to ensure each station will fit into the schedule (20 minutes per station). You'll have to move quickly both to keep the girls' attention and to complete all of the required elements of each station in the specified time.

5. Preparing the day of the event:

- Be sure your technicians and assistants are present before the scheduled starting time.

- Put one car at each station.
- Make sure all necessary equipment is at each station.
- Determine which technician(s) will work with each station (tires, inspection, instrument panel/features and state safety requirements).
- Set up food tables and/or break areas. Make sure food is ready, or will be delivered on time.
- Place safety equipment, such as safety glasses and gloves, at the inspection station.

6. When the Girl Scouts arrive:

- Have girls sign in with their names and addresses.
- Pass out nametags.
- Introduce yourself and the technicians or other assistants.
- Tell them about any special certifications your shop or technicians hold and why they are important.
- Brag on the girls for being Girl Scouts and being interested in car care.
- Tell them the basic layout of your shop, including the location of the restroom and break areas.
- Discuss safety procedures. Explain safety concerns about long hair, loose jewelry and clothing. Emphasize no running or horseplay in the shop.
- Divide girls into groups (patrols) of three to six.
- Assign each group to a car and technician, and explain that they will rotate every 20 minutes. Tell where each group will go next.
- Take digital pictures during the work in stations for use in publicity.

7. Stations

Each station should last 20 minutes, and the girls will rotate through each station. The workshop can begin at 9 a.m. on a Saturday morning and end at 10:45 a.m. with a 15-minute break at 9:40 a.m. for snacks and interviews. It could also begin at 5 p.m. on a weekday evening and end at 6:45 p.m.

Station 1

Tire Lesson

While it is not mandatory, it would be good to have the car on a lift for this station. This portion of the program should explain what tires are made of, why they are rotated and what causes tread wear. Use the tire rotation chart to give Girl Scouts an explanation of how tires are rotated. (Note: Tires do not need to be physically rotated.) Have the girls check the air pressure. Mention that a good time to check the brakes is during tire rotation. Tread depth and inflation should be checked. Show a tire with tread wear. An explanation of safety issue involved in changing a flat tire should be included as well. (Note: You do not have to change a tire.) Ask for questions.

Station 2

Inspection

Before starting, the technician(s) should point out the radiator cap and remind the girls not to check a car or open the radiator cap while the engine is hot. They should tell the girls to always make sure the parking brake is on when working on a car.

The technician(s) should show the girls how to check the battery (cable, connections and fluid if applicable), lights, turn signals, emergency flashers, back-up lights, windshield wipers, spare tire, tire jack, flares, radiator and seat belts. If you live in an area with hot and cold seasons, discuss items that should be checked when the weather changes.

Show the girls what each fluid looks like. Compare spent oil to new oil and tell its purpose. Under the instruction and supervision of a technician, the girls will check the levels of oil, brake fluid, power steering fluid, automatic transmission fluid and windshield washer fluid. The technician(s) should show the girls how to check these items, and then allow the girls to take turns checking them while following safety guidelines. (Note: Each girl does not have to check each item. Each girl can check one while the others watch.) Ask for questions.

Instrument Panel and Car Features

Technicians should point out and explain the purpose of all dashboard lights, buzzers, dials and gauges. Mention that some indicators show that something is wrong with the car. Tell the girls that a description and explanation of each is located in the owner's manual of every car, should they forget. This also is a good time briefly to explain computers and onboard diagnostics in cars.

What are considered special features on a car? A list of extra features is included in this packet. Which features are for safety, and which are just for looks or entertainment? Help the girls locate special features on the demonstration car. Discuss with the girls which extra features they feel are the most important, which they would like to have on their own cars, and why. They may wish to look through their owner's manuals to find other features at this time. Ask for questions.

State Safety Requirements

Find out what the vehicle safety inspection requirements are (if any) in your state. Are they for emissions, vehicle safety or both? Tell the girls how often a car in your state has to pass inspection. Determine whether or not your example car would pass the inspection, if applicable. Why are state inspections important? How many states require them? How long has your state had a required inspection? If your state doesn't require an inspection, are there any bills currently being considered that would make state inspection a law?

Break (after the first two sessions)

Take a 15-minute break. During this time, the girls will have snacks and interview the technicians about their jobs. Technicians should be prepared to answer such questions as:

- What is a usual day like?
- What are some of the tools and equipment you use?
- What kinds of safety issues are of concern?
- Why did you enter this profession?
- What type of training is needed?

While it may be better to do this portion of the workshop as one large group, you can also consider breaking the girls into two groups with two technicians per group. Encourage the technicians to interact with the girls as much as possible during this time.

8. Concluding the Workshop:

Pass out goodie bags

Thank the girls for coming, and tell them you hope to see them in your shop soon.

9. Following up:

Evaluate the workshop with your technicians and the scout leaders. Discuss what went right and what went wrong. How could you improve your next workshop?

Send a press release and digital pictures to your local newspaper. Click here for example press releases. Call first regarding submission policies (by e-mail, by fax, etc.).

Using the sign-in sheet addresses, send thank you notes to all of the scouts who attended the workshop. Tell the girls how great it was to meet them and how much you and your staff enjoyed working with them. Mention that you look forward to seeing them in your shop in the future.

Bill Jones Automotive Helps Girl Scouts Earn Badges

April 8, 2003 – A car care badge workshop was held Saturday morning at Bill Jones Automotive, 718 Lancaster Street in Murray for local Junior Girl Scout Troop 541. The class was designed to better acquaint the young women with their vehicles' maintenance needs as they approach driving age. This also helped them earn their automotive badge.

“A well-maintained vehicle is safer and more dependable,” said Jones. “In addition, it’s worth more at trade-in time. That’s why we want girls to understand more about their cars, the benefits of having them properly maintained, as well as the warning signs of compromised systems and components. The event was a great way for us to start early teaching girls to be car care aware.”

Twenty-two girls from Troop 541 in grades four through six earned their car care badge at the event. The event taught girls how to check fluid levels, check tire pressure and tread wear, and change a tire. They also learned about automobile features and dashboard indicators, and interviewed technician, Martin White, about his job.

Girls attending the event received a thank-you bag that included tire and depth gauges, a bottle of windshield washer fluid, coupons for service, assorted brochures and additional items with a total value of over $35.
